The greatest threat to your business in the 21st century is identity theft and fraud. There are 10 million new victims every year. You may be next. Over 500 million records were stolen from small businesses since 2005. Over 55% of the U.S. population has now been affected by these crimes. Crooks are more sophisticated than ever. Confidential information is the new currency of thieves. The new threats we face are devastating. The unprepared and complacent are being victimized. Cybercrime is now a bigger problem than illegal drug trafficking.
