Since 1998, Marshall has been providing Corodata clients with the most economically beneficial options for secure records storage, document destruction, and off-site data storage and protection. He is responsible for evaluating the client's situation to propose the best solutions for information management. Marshall has earned the distinction of being a certified Information Governance Professional. He is qualified to provide professional training and development of Generally Accepted Recordkeeping Principles, service and budgets.

He is serving as the first elected President of the Golden State Chapter of ARMA which was formed last October from the merger of the three Bay Area Chapters: Golden Gate, Silicon Valley and Mt. Diablo. Marshall headed the Transition Committee and having successfully established the new chapter will be continuing on the Board as Past President and the Social Director. With the Golden Gate Chapter he was its Membership Director 2012-2016, Vice President 2014-2016, and 2 1/2 terms as President until it recently merged with the other chapters. He was awarded the "Outside the Box" award for innovative ideas in helping the Golden Gate Chapter to win the spring recruitment campaign for ARMA International for three consecutive years. He was named the Chapter's 2013 Leader of the Year. He was Rookie of the Year in 2010 for the San Jose Chapter of ARMA and served as Programs Director from 2009-2011.

Marshall holds a Bachelor of Arts in Communications and Theology (1981) from William Jessup University. He studied for a year abroad at the University of Graz, Austria and his Master's work was in the field of Intercultural Studies.
